ALEXANDRIA TO HAVE SPECIAL VOTE ON MANAGER PLAN

Election Will Be Held Oct. 3 on Changing of City Government.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 13.—The petition which has been circulated by the members of the Chamber of Commerce asking Judge Samuel G. Brent, of the circuit court, to call a special election on October 3, has received the required number of signatures and will be presented to Judge Brent within a few days. The election will be on the question of changing the government of the city from the present plan of a mayor and city council to that of the city manager plan.

The question was voted on two years ago and was defeated, but it is said by the members of the Chamber of Commerce that sentiment has changed considerably since that time and that when the vote is taken in October the city manager plan will be victorious.

Mayor James M. Duncan announces that after next Monday the licenses for those doing business in the city will be placed in the hands of the police and collection enforced. The mayor has been urging the merchants to come forward and pay their licenses without having to give them to the police, but so few have responded that it was decided to let the policemen collect them as in former years.

Pythias, have installed the following officers: Chancellor commander, C. H. Pendleton; vice chancellor, Joseph Reeve; prelate, G. H. McInchur; master of work, A. W. D. Jander; keeper of records and seal, Elmer Norris; master at arms, Harry Arnold; master of exchequer, George W. Bontz, sr.; master of finance, L. D. Sullivan; inner guard, M. L. M. Davis; outer guard, H. J. H. Mansfield; representative to the grand lodge, James Haynes; alternate, W. D. Janier.

Marley Encampment, I. O. O. F., has installed the following officers: Chief patriarch, Harvey Wade; senior warden, G. J. Minor; junior warden, W. M. O. Topping; treasurer, George W. Bentz, sr.

A meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club, was held at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce last evening. The members later attended the chautauqua.

A meeting of Liberty Rebekah Lodge, No. 16, I. O. O. F., was held at Odd Fellows' Hall last evening. Officers were installed and a short musical program rendered. Refreshments were served.

U. S. DISCHARGES 13,000 SOLDIERS DURING JULY

During the first ten days of July, 20,000 enlisted men of the United States Army have applied for discharge, the War Department announced today.

Of this number, the applications of 13,000 have been accepted in line with the department's plan of reducing the military establishment to an enlisted strength of 150,000, and it is likely that the remaining 7,000 applications will be accepted within the next few days.

Secretary of War Weeks expressed the belief today that the peak of the applications for discharge had been reached.

MODERN SHIP NOT EFFECTIVE WHEN FIGHTING AIRPLANE

Regardless of Aero Development, Tests Off Capes Will Revolutionize Strategy.

With the nation talking disarmament and the controversy as to the value of the aeroplane against the battleship still raging, in high naval circles here plans are being made for new methods of naval defense.

The bombing tests which the navy has made off the Virginia Capes, and which are still in progress have developed a very well defined sentiment among naval men that the navy's strategy must be changed. This is irrespective of their convictions as to the value of the aeroplane in naval warfare. It is generally admitted that whatever opinion may be held of the aeroplane, it is a weapon which will be used in naval warfare in the future and a defense must be provided against it.

Whenever it becomes necessary to increase the strength of the navy against new weapons the first thought is of added armor. There are those who have already advanced the theory that battleships may be more completely armored against air attacks, but this theory does not find great favor among the thinking naval officers, for they are of the opinion that the modern battleship is carrying about all of the armor that she is capable of wearing and still maintaining speed necessary for battle.

VICTIMS OF DRESS SUIT FAKER DRAW NO TEARS FROM FAY KING

They Got Just What Was Coming to Them, She Says with a Grin

By FAY KING.

I heard, the other day, about a young rouser that vamps himself into the sans souci set of society by clever use of a dress suit and pretty poses. He don't slip 'em calling cards, but in a roundabout way with the women he insinuates that he's some young swank, and they fall for him. After foxtrotting himself into the fast and fashionable set, some of his checks come back N. G., and then his new friends raise a awful holler about being swindled. Some how I can't feel sorry for 'em, and I hope the young hoodwink gets away.

Not that I'm exactly in favor of crime, crushing anyone at any time, but just the same there is a bunch of people always ready to flop for swell table manners and easy speakers, and it serves 'em right to be trimmed by a clever little crook like that.

He didn't try to sell any ten-cent stocks in a dry oil well. All he did was to hang around and look rich and the smart setters took him on the strength of his good taste in dress, dance and damask.

He dazzled the dowagers, fascinated the flappers and managed to manipulate some of the mafiosos out of jewelry and change. Then he ducked out as mysteriously as he ducked in, and while I ain't exactly in favor of fakers, I say it serves the stylish steppers right to be taken in by a young grafter who knows how easy it is to get in right if you look and act right.

Some other poor guy that ain't slick enough to study up on smart stalls is about as welcome around the verandah of a summer resort as smallpox on an ocean liner.

In that set where you can't start anything unless your father is a toothpaste king or your mother the daughter of a floating soap magnate it hands me a laugh to see some young gent blow in and bunco the ringmasters with his pretty manners.

It kinda squares it for the honest Henrys in the breed, at any time would get the Oregon Boot if they tramped across the golf links where these phut-cronies play pasture pool.

Many a kid riding the rods has got more to him than these young society "vags" who ride the rules that can run 'em in on the rich!

But people who are so shallow as to fall for some clever boy with a classy come-on, deserve to be taken for all he can get and shouldn't squeal.

A fat chance a plumber with personality would have trying to crush in 'em, but he'd be too much of a man to try it!

NAVY MAY SWEEP SEAS IN SEARCH FOR PIRATE SHIP

Air and Water Fleets to Be Mobilized if Buccaneers Are Again Sighted.

By International News Service.

Naval officers are considering plans for an ocean-wide campaign in search of the "mystery ships" which have been reported within the past week, it was learned today.

Although the Navy Department has taken no official action in connection with the theories that a "pirate" ship is marauding along the Atlantic coast, it was learned that plans are under consideration for a drive upon the sea to exterminate the buccaners, if it is definitely established that the reported "mystery" ships are pirate vessels.

AIR FORCES MAY HELP.

Secretary Denby stated today that so far no naval vessel has sighted the strange vessel, which has been reported by commercial mariners, but indicated that the Navy Department is giving the closest consideration to the reports which have been made by Captain Giles, of the S. S. Munabro, and others who have sighted the phantom ship.

If a naval search for the alleged pirate ship is decided upon, it is probable that the seas will be swept by combined surface and air forces. Fleet grey destroyers will be sent to comb the seas and aircraft will scout along the coast in a systematic manner in which they scouted for enemy submarines during the war.

While the Navy Department, the Coast Guard Service and the Bureau of Navigation are withholding a sea search, pending receipt of more definite reports on the mysterious vessel, it was learned that the consulates of the United States have been asked to forward any information obtainable on any mysterious marine expeditions that may have so forth from foreign ports. A report that Scotland Yard broke up a pirate undertaking several months ago, and that the men who were concerned in this alleged undertaking have since disappeared, is being closely scanned here.

All descriptions of the mystery ship which have thus far been received have been rather indefinite, officials stated today, and it is hoped that within a short time a detailed description may be secured and the search problem may be worked out on a more concrete basis.

DESCRIPTIONS ARE VAGUE.

The haunts of seamen in the ports of the Atlantic seaboard are being combed in the hope that some information may be secured of the outfitting of a pirate craft. It is also understood that the consulates of the United States have been asked to forward any information obtainable on any mysterious marine expeditions that may have so forth from foreign ports. A report that Scotland Yard broke up a pirate undertaking several months ago, and that the men who were concerned in this alleged undertaking have since disappeared, is being closely scanned here.

All descriptions of the mystery ship which have thus far been received have been rather indefinite, officials stated today, and it is hoped that within a short time a detailed description may be secured and the search problem may be worked out on a more concrete basis.

DRY AGENT T. E. STONE

DENIES OUSTER REPORT

BALTIMORE, July 13.—Emphatic denial that he had been ousted from his position and that Maryland had been "turned over to the bootleggers" was made yesterday by Supervising Prohibition Agent Thomas E. Stone. He said that prohibition in the Maryland district was being enforced as vigorously as possible and would continue to be until further notice.

Before making this denial Mr. Stone received personal assurance over the telephone from Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Haynes that there was no foundation for the report of his summary dismissal and that he would be expected to continue the effective enforcement of the prohibition laws until notified officially to the contrary.

In addition to his assurances to Mr. Stone, Commissioner Haynes made an emphatic public denial of the dismissal report, according to a dispatch from Washington. He added that Mr. Stone will remain in charge until the reorganization of the prohibition machinery in Maryland is completed, "after which the enforcement work will be prosecuted with even greater vigor."

DR. M. C. PINCOFFS MADE

U. OF M. MEDICAL HEAD

BALTIMORE, July 13.—Dr. Maurice C. Pincoffs yesterday was appointed professor of medicine and head of the department of medicine in the Medical School of the University of Maryland by Dr. A. F. Woods, president of the university. He succeeds Dr. Gordon Wilson.

This is the first step in the reorganization of the whole medical school, which was made possible recently by members of the medical faculty placing their resignations in the hands of Dr. Woods. Dr. Pincoffs will lose no time in organizing his staff, and he is expected to ask several of the present members to remain.

TIZ FOR SORE, TIRED FEET

Good-bye, burning feet; swollen, tender, tired feet. No more limping over hot sidewalks with your feet "on fire." No more standing day after day on aching feet. No more shoe tightness, limping with pain. Tiz draws out the poisonous exudations that cause puffed-up, burning feet. What gladness, comfort, rest, when foot misery ends. Get a small box of Tiz now at any drug store. Don't suffer. A year's foot comfort guaranteed for a few cents.—Adv.
